

What is in my book to help me improve?

When I work with an adult, they draw two red stick people in my book. I get feedback during the lesson and the adult initials my work.

My teacher always checks and initials my work when I have worked without an adult.

WALT

When I see my WALT underlined in blue I know my teacher has checked my learning and I have achieved what they expected.

• WALT

When I see a blue dot next to WALT I know my teacher has checked my learning and I have some red marks on my work as a helpful reminder.

• WALT

When I see a red dot next to WALT in my book, my teacher is still pleased with me, but they want to talk to me about my work.

When I see a blue arrow next to my WALT I have achieved beyond what they expected.

When I see a blue tick next to my work I know that I have impressed my teacher.

I can also receive college points and marbles for my effort and achievement.

When I have really, really impressed my teacher with my efforts, my teacher sends me to Mr Isherwood to show him what I have achieved.

Perfect Presentation Prompts

I take pride in my books – they are a very important part of my learning - the school's 'Crown Jewels'.

I take care using my cursive handwriting.

I can leave 2 lines after my last piece of work and draw a line with my ruler.

I can write the date and the WALT.

I can start my work at the margin.

I can write question numbers in the margin.

I can miss a line between each paragraph.

I can use a green pen to correct my own work.

I can use a purple pen to check someone else's work.

At the end of my work I can use the traffic light code to show others how I feel I have done:

- red means I think I need more time to understand this
- yellow means I think I am getting there but would still like to try it again
- green means I think I have achieved the WALT
